

After having an interview with my client, he seemed to be unsure about the exact details of the project. It is clear that he wants something "fun" and interactive. This has led to me mind mapping this broad idea of "A unique audio visual experience."

